Candle Light Wedding In Mount Calvary Church

CROSSFIELD—On December 30 the beautiful church of Mount Calvary was the scene of a very pretty wedding by candlelight, when Rev. A. Millar heard the marriage vows of Edna, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Weiss, Oids, and Kevin, youngest son of the late John S. Sexton, St. Johns, Nfld., and Mrs. Mattie Sexton of Crossfield.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. She was attended by Miss Clarice Sexton and Jo Weiss.

Supporting the groom was Les Sexton and Melvin Weiss. During the signing of the register Miss Jessie Cadman sang very beautifully, "I'll Walk Beside You."

Preceding the ceremony, the lovely strains "Through the Years" were wafted through the church and little Christmas trees flanking the altar lent a festive air to the occasion.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white nylon with a trailing veil and her headdress marked the Elizabethan period. The matron of honor and the bridesmaid were similarly styled in formal gowns in respective tones of green and pink.

After the reception, which was largely attended by their many friends and relatives, the bride and groom left for California, where their honeymoon was spent at the home of the groom's uncle, Mr. Allan A. Chafe, Carona Del Mar.

Local Mixed Rinks Accept Invitation

CROSSFIELD—On Saturday, 7:30, Feb. 28, when Carstairs Club entertained two Crossfield rinks skipped by B. Lilley and Ryan Poffenroth and again another two Crossfield rinks skipped by Harry Wigle and Fred Becker on a 9:30 p.m. draw, Crossfield were very lucky to win three out of the four games.

A most enjoyable evening was spent, and the hospitality of the Carstairs Club was appreciated. A very delicious lunch was partaken and the Crossfield Club hopes to return the invitation in the near future.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ryan Poffenroth, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wigle, Mr. and Mrs. Ken McTavish, Mr. and Mrs. F. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. E. McNaughton, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lilley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lilley.

AT CREMONA LADIES' SPIEL

The rink skipped by Mrs. Glad Woods, supported by Enid Reeves, Ethel Kinghorn, and Jean Reid were able to cop a prize, which was a nice set of steak knives.

Annual Red Cross Meeting

CROSSFIELD—Mrs. Earl Richardson, president of the Crossfield Red Cross, presided at the annual meeting held in the Community Hall. Reports were heard from the various committees which included that of the word committee convened by Mrs. Mabel Edlund. Mrs. Edna Robinson, secretary, gave an interesting report. Mr. Hodgert, guest speaker, gave a resume of the work of the Alberta branch of the Red Cross for the past year, and commended the work done by the Crossfield branch. A short address was given by the zone representative, Mr. Hector McDonald. Mrs. Charney attended the convention held on the 19th and 20th of February in Calgary, and reported on this and her duties as blood convener during the year. An interesting feature of the evening was the exhibition work done by J. Chas. Reed, paper tearing magician. A picture, torn by him, is on exhibition in a down-town store window, and is a work of art.

At the election of officers the same slate was returned. Mr. Hodgert said that beside the campaign money $400 was turned over to the Ceippled Children's Hospital from Crossfield. Mr. Fitzpatrick is convener for canvassing for our district and will appoint helpers.

The president stated that the need for Red Cross is very urgent as the supplies at Calgary quarters is sadly depleted and everyone is asked to help with the work.

The per diem system under which railroads compensate one another for use of freight cars reached its 50th birthday on July 1, 1952.

Military Whist Draws Big Crowd

CROSSFIELD—Staging their annual military whist a little later than usual (Wednesday the 18th) the members of Justice Rebekah Lodge No. 62 had trouble accommodating the large crowd which clamored for this very friendly and uproarious game, which was a riot in fun from start to finish.

The RSNG-elect was in charge of the game and the participants were very co-operative as they ventured forth to battle with blood in their eye and their greedy hands ready to snatch a flag from their adversaries.

All too soon the game was ended and a lunch, in true Rebekah style was served.

Only those attending these functions realize that these lunches are always fit for a king and enjoyed to the uttermost.

Orderly officers, Mesdames N. Fox, and G. Budgeon approached the Forts to verify the count of flags and first prize was handed to the fort which was garrisoned by Field Marshal and Mrs. C. Fox, Colonel S. Laurie, and Pte. Jim McCool, who had gained seven new countries without shedding a drop of blood.

Badly beaten, and battle scarred was the garrison of General and Mrs. Green and Captain and Mrs. Harnach, who still held their fort, though it was shambles, with only nine out of 15 flags left.

N Grand Ada Bailey thanked all who attended.

BEISEKER CURLING RINK DESTROYED BY FIRE

BEISEKER—Beiseker's two-sheet curling rink burned to the ground around 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and only good work on the part of the Acme Fire Brigade which was called to the help of the local brigade saved the adjoining skating rink, dressing rooms and other residential buildings.

Adam Delker, who operates a blacksmith business across the street from the rink, noticed smoke pouring from the building. He called for help but when they broke in the building was a raging inferno. No one was in the rink when the fire started.

Origin of the fire was unknown. As far as is known no one was in the rink after curling ended Sunday afternoon.

The rink was built in 1939. A mixed bonspiel with 35 rinks entered was slated to start Monday night but had to be called off. The building was partly covered by insurance. The curling rocks were also lost in the fire.

Crossfield Lad Completes Training

CROSSFIELD—Bert Lilley and Eric Landymore attended the Graduation Exercises of S-96 squad of the RCMP, held in Post Gymnasium at Regina, Sask., Feb. 13, 1953. This "pass-out parade" completed the "part two training" of the 29 graduates, which included that of Crossfield-born Lawrence Lilley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lilley, and nephew of Eric Landymore.

The spectators from Regina and various provinces of Canada first witnessed the thorough inspection of the squad by O.C. Inspector Storey, during which time the RCMP band, in concert dress, supplied suitable music. Inspector Storey commented highly in their favor after inspection, but cautioned the boys that only through the years of experience ahead of them could they hope to be RCMP in the true sense of the word and that "perfection" could never be attained as the scope in their work is unlimited.

Cpl. Hutchings then took command of a "Foot and Arms Drill" with the grads in full dress, which included felt hat, scarlet tunic, blue breeches, long boots, spurs, gloves. The arms and equipment included Sam Browne, rifle, revolver and lanyard. This precision drill was greatly admired.

Following this Cpl. Curtin, the last word in fitness himself, conducted the grads through a colorful series of PT in rapid fire succession which included all types of gymnastics, from tumbling and pyramids to police holds and Judo. The spectators considered this part of the program a real treat and heartily applauded the breathless but happy boys, who, in turn, thanked their instructor for his untiring efforts on their part, and then, to add to their enthusiasm, playfully punished him under the showers.

After enjoying a buffet luncheon, which was served by the graduating class, the OC read the postings of the 29 boys. Lawrence Lilley was posted to "E" Div. of British Columbia.

Having been privileged to witness this very fine graduation of RCMP, the guests were left with the impression that these young policemen, through their academic training in criminal law and in-

Edmonton Students Handicapped

EDMONTON (BUP) — More than half of the children attending Edmonton schools are handicapped, according to city medical officer Dr. R. M. Hayes.

Dr. Hayes told an annual convention of teachers that unknown defects are holding many children back and causing them to drop behind in their studies.

"In many cases," he said, "Children are allowed to attend school with ailments which could be discovered early and remedied."

"Fifty per cent of all students develop eye defects before they reach high school," Hayes said. "But the child's worst handicap is to feel different from his schoolmates. This develops a feeling of frustration."

The medical officer appealed to teachers and parents to help

Premier Urges Albertans To Aid In Flood Relief

EDMONTON—Hon. E. C. Manning, Premier of Alberta, called upon all Alberta citizens to contribute to the European Flood Relief Fund.

Mr. Manning in announcing the Alberta Government's support of the fund said that money is needed urgently to relieve the distress of thousands of people made homeless by the storms and floods which struck England, The Netherlands and other European countries early in February.

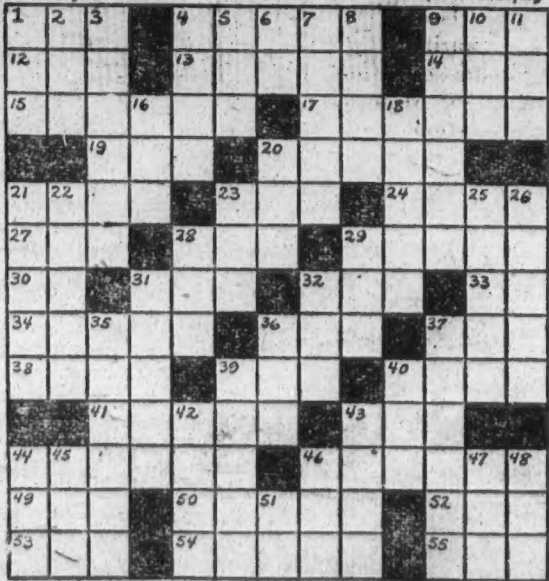

"The people of Alberta gave unselfishly to the Winnipeg Flood Relief Fund in 1950 but the present need is greater," the premier said. "The damage, distress and grief caused by the European floods are overwhelming and require a considerably greater effort than that made to help the people of Winnipeg."

He said the urgent need for flood relief funds made it impractical to set up a national organization to canvass for funds. Contributions for flood relief could be made to all branches of chartered banks in Alberta as well as post offices. Similar arrangements have been made for express money orders. Receipts which will be valid for income tax deductions will be issued.

Premier Manning requested the mayors and reeves of all Alberta municipalities to announce the existence of the Flood Relief Fund and urge the public's support. He emphasized that the appeal for funds is not a Red Cross appeal but the Canadian Red Cross will be the administrative arm of the committee for the distribution of assistance through its International Red Cross channels.

A group of six boys got together for a little card game. But often a young chap, a little "goofy" would come and say something displeasing to us. We decided the next time he'd come and start something like that, we'd leave. This fine evening he comes and says: "Boys, I've read an article in the paper for need of six bums." As we got up and started out, he says: "No hurry, boys, the train doesn't leave for 24 hours."

The Senate To The Rescue

(From the Calgary Albertan)

Three cheers for the Canadian Senate! It has proved that it can indeed be a champion of the people of Canada and that it is not just a rubber stamp for the government.

Parliament is revising the Criminal Code. Justice Minister Garson, on behalf of the government, had the code re-written, new sections added and obsolete ones deleted. A Senate committee is going through his draft of it. It made three changes which are highly important and greatly beneficial to the people. It is to be hoped now that the whole Senate will concur in these improvements, and that the Commons will also ratify the changes.

Mr. Garson wanted the law of contempt of court left as it is. The Albertan has objected to it. It gives a judge power to pass any sentence he wishes on any person who in his opinion expresses contempt of his court. And there is no appeal. The public is completely at the mercy of the judges. They are not governed by law, in this respect, but by their ulcers.

The Senate committee wants to establish the right of appeal. If the offence is committed in the court the sentence may be appealed, it says. If it is committed out of court, both the sentence and the authority of the judge may be appealed. High time.

Then the Senate committee objected to a section designating the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, along with the army, navy and air force, as the "armed forces" of Canada. This established the RCMP as a military force, Senators thought. They didn't like it. Nor do we. The internal police forces in Canada must always be civilian in every respect. Canadians don't want the "armed forces" doing civilian police duties. That's not what they're for. Leave the RCMP alone, we say.

And thirdly, the Senate committee voted to change the section on treason, over Mr. Garson's vigorous and specific objection.

He had set it down as treason if any Canadian passed information to another country that "is likely to be prejudicial to the safety or interests of Canada." And treason, of course, is punishable by death.

This is altogether too broad, said the Senators. If somebody sent agricultural information to Argentina which would help her to compete more strongly against Canadian wheat or livestock in world markets, it would "likely be prejudicial to the interests of Canada" and therefore the guilty person could be hanged. What's Canada coming to?

Define the information you don't want sent out of the country, the Senators told Mr. Garson. And so, in the meantime, they voted to put this section in a place in the code where the maximum sentence can be only 14 years.

On this one the Senators didn't follow through with their point. If the wording is too loose to justify hanging a man, isn't it too loose to send him to prison for 14 years? Why not re-write it altogether? If it's improperly worded for the protection of the people's rights, why be satisfied with a 14-year penalty in place of hanging?

Pierre Martin, president of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, representing some 20 million farmers, urges the renewal of the wheat agreement. The agreement, he says, is not only important to wheat producers and consumers, but also points the way to greater price stability for other products.

Farmers' Unions in Saskatchewan and Manitoba have asked the federal government to underwrite wheat prices should a new wheat agreement set a price lower than the western farm unions believe adequate.

The Canadian Pacific Railway reported a net earning last year of $30.8 million a $4 million increase over 1951. Gross earnings were at an all-time high of $457.8 million as compared with $428.9 million in the previous year.

Those Income Tax Reports

Before very long we are going to be urged to get our income tax returns in early. So this may be as good a time as any to bring up a few points which we should keep in mind in case we get the feeling that we are badly done by.

The most important of these is that we should remember that while it is the federal government which does the collecting, and therefore gets the blame when we feel that the tax is taking a greater share of our personal income than we are happy to part with, it is the provincial government which gets a very substantial share of the proceeds.

The latest year for which complete figures are available is that ending March 31st, 1951. In that year the income tax department collected through personal and corporation taxes in Alberta approximately 71 million dollars. Of this sum $40,780,000 was collected as personal income tax from individuals. In that same period, not including the dominion subsidy of more than two million dollars, the province received as their share under the tax transfer agreement, $17,343,000. This amounted to $20.34 per person, and accounted for 16% of the total provincial revenue.

If the dominion had not agreed to collect this for the province, they could have reduced personal income taxes by 42½% or if they had cared to spread the reduction over both personal and corporation taxes, have allowed a reduction of 25% right across the board.

It is interesting to note that the sum the province received as their share of the income taxes which the dominion collected was greater than the total amount spent by the provincial government for education in that year.

Under a new agreement between the provinces and the dominion, the provincial government will receive more than 25 million dollars for the current year. This will amount to something more than 20% of their total income from all sources. This works out to nearly $29 for every man, woman and child in the province, or $145 for the average family of five persons.

Some will remember the time when the provincial government collected its own income tax. The last year it did this was 1941-42, when the total amount they received was $2,241,000, or $2.84 per person, or $14.20 for the average family of five persons, representing approximately 8% of their total revenue.

In other words, the province is having the dominion collect more than ten times as much in income taxes for them as they ever collected for themselves.

From a practical point of view, most people will agree that it is just plain good business to have this tax collected by the one agency. It avoids the necessity of setting up two collection services, and is therefore cheaper. Perhaps what is more important it avoids the confusion of having taxpayers make out two sets of returns under two sets of regulations, which would undoubtedly differ.

But what should be kept in mind by the taxpayer, if he feels his taxes are too high, is that all of the blame cannot fairly be put on the shoulders of the federal government. The provincial government is getting credit for spending the money. They claim they have reduced taxes. It is only fair that they should receive their full share of any discontent which is felt by the taxpayer at this or any other time.

Note and Comment

The leaders in every community talk only when they have something to say.

The Brazilian minister of agriculture has stated that his country could become self-sufficient in wheat within three years. Consumption now totals about 67 million bushels annually and this year production was roughly 20 million bushels.

FOUND US DISGUSTING

I'd read about Jasper Avenue and the City of Edmonton, but what a sight it was when I came to see the midnight sights! Women tramps, young and old, being chased by wolves—cops ranging up and down 97th street—crowds of people going nowhere and arriving there. Edmontonians just don't know what it is to spend a nice evening at home. Yes, Edmonton is really a place to see!

COYOTES VS. MICE

I notice in a recent issue, that the municipal council has voted to make application for the institution of coyote control in this district.

Before we go headlong into destroying coyotes, let's stop long enough to consider that two or three chickens or a lamb doesn't feed a coyote for a week. He eats something else besides and that something else is mice and gophers!

It has been proved by naturalists (and they should know) that a coyote eats upwards of two hundred mice a week, and when you stop to think that one mouse is capable of destroying ten bushels of grain a season, this is no small consideration.

Sure a farmer can go to a lot of work tramping over his fields poisoning gophers, but what can he do about the mice?

One can sympathize with sheep ranchers with sheep on the range. If coyotes are troublesome, but even in these cases it is probably a certain killer coyote and not the general run of coyotes that do the killing.

The comparatively few chickens lost to coyotes is outweighed by the savings to the farmer from the loss of grain to the mice which the coyotes destroy.

For the farmer's sake let's think of as good a method of keeping the mouse population under control as those that Nature now provides with hawks, owls, weasels and coyotes, before destroying these creatures!

I was wondering what is wrong with you guys as I told you tea times already I'm not getting your paper yet. I hope this is clear for you now, if this is not clear yet for you guys, so no wonder you are ball head. Get to work once in the blue moon. I thank you.

JUKE BOX REFUGEE

I'd like to know where you can eat around here where there's no juke box. I sit down and start to enjoy a meal. Then, all of a sudden, Johnnie Hogcaller Ray's voice blares out of the juke and my dinner is ruined. This goes also for the so-called hillbilly music, which is an insult to the real mountain music of my native mountains. This hillbilly stuff is a cross between the bawl of a billious calf and the squeak of the door or "Inner Sanctum." There goes my lunch again.

Along with faith and love,
And asked a special blessing,
From the Giver up above.

Someone stopped to comfort
A burdened heart in pain,
And they picked up life's scattered threads;
Began to weave again.

Someone's life came tumbling
But they met it with a smile,
And found among the shimmering pall;
So many things worthwhile.

Someone held out willing hands,
And didn't wait to give,
And Heaven's Carillon rang out;
Someone had learned to live!

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa,

I have been married a year and we are still living with my husband's parents, although he said we would stay there just a few months until we could find an apartment or house.

Now, I know it is cheaper to stay

The Wild-Oat—Our Worst Weed

The Wild Oat, it is generally agreed, is the worst weed in Western Canada.

During the past 7 or 8 years there has been a tremendous increase in the interest in weed control due to the development of various weed control chemicals. Most of the common broad-leaved weeds can now be controlled effectively and economically by chemical means. So far the wild oat has remained unaffected by any chemical except the more costly soil sterilants.

Many Chemicals Tested. This situation may not, however, last much longer. Weed investigators, encouraged by their success with chemicals on other weeds and alarmed by the terrific losses due to wild oats, are concentrating their efforts toward the development of a chemical that will control this costly weed. In the meantime cultural methods provide the only means of controlling wild oats.

Cultural Control. A study of wild oat seeds shows that they germinate readily during the cool weather of early Spring. Few will germinate, however, after the temperature of the soil has reached 50°F or higher. This occurs usually between May 15 and June 1st, depending on the season. Early Spring tillage and delayed seeding of an early maturing crop will destroy many wild oats, and allow a relatively clean crop to be grown even on heavily infested fields.

Clean, Good Seed Important. Seed drill surveys have shown that millions of wild oat seeds are returned to the soil in "dirty" seed each year in Western Canada. Clean, high-germinating, properly treated seed is a vital link in weed control. Good seed and efficient and timely cultivation will reduce the population of wild oats and other weeds in growing crops, and make for a better, more prosperous agriculture in Western Canada.

Copies of our revised circular "Wild-Oat Control by Cultural Methods" may be obtained, free of charge, through local Line Elevator Agents or from Line Elevators Farm Service, Winnipeg or Calgary. c with his parents and I like them, but I don't want to continue to live with them.

I want a home of my own where I can have the color curtains I like and the kind of food I like and where I can be by myself when I want to. But my husband keeps putting me off. I think he has got used to being in this home and he doesn't want to leave it.

What can I do to make him realize that we would be happier in a home of our own?

B.

Answer:

If he promised to get you an apartment or house before you were married, you can remind him of his promise and go out and look for a place, yourself.

All young couples are happier in a place of their own if they are financially able to afford it. Perhaps, if you do the looking and find a suitable place, he will stand by his word.

Louisa.

Dear Louisa,

I am seventeen years old and two men have asked me to marry them. The one I like the best hasn't got a job and my mother likes the other one because he has money.

Do you think I could learn to love him? He treats me fine.

S.R.

Answer:

Don't marry either one.

You are not ready for marriage and the two chances you have are not good bets at all. Certainly you don't want to marry a man who hasn't a job. It's easier to work for one than it is for two or more. And as for marrying a man you don't love just because he has money, that's a good way to buy unhappiness.

You are young and have many more years in which to choose a mate. So don't make the mistake of jumping at the first chance you have.

Louisa.

Two years back a four-year-old boy was given his first ride on horseback. He was thrilled and when taken off he ran into the house to tell Mama. His mother asked if he wasn't afraid he'd fall off. "Oh no," he said, "I was holding on to the horse's feathers." He meant the mane, of course.

Farm Union Delegation To Meet Wheat Board; Board Of Grain Commissioners

Arrangements were made for a delegation representing the three Prairie Farm Unions to meet the Board of Grain Commissioners on February 23rd and the Canadian Wheat Board on February 24th. These meetings were held in Winnipeg.

At these meetings the Union representatives discussed with the respective Boards, matters of policy and administration in regard to grain handling, grading and marketing, overages etc. The viewpoint of the Unions on various aspects of these problems were presented by a delegation headed by Mr. J. L. Preps, chairman of the Interprovincial Council of the Farm Unions, and President of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union. He is supported by members of the Alberta and Manitoba Union Executive. In addition the Saskatchewan Union sent a number of union officials from each district as observers.

Interprovincial Conference

The Annual Interprovincial Conference of the Farm Unions will be held in Alberta this year immediately following the Calgary Stampede. Arrangements are being made to hold this event in Calgary on July 13 and 14. It is expected that speakers of national and international importance will be present, and a number of farmers from the Prairie Provinces is anticipated.

Presentation of Resolutions to Provincial Government

On Feb. 6 the resolutions of a Provincial nature passed by the Annual Convention together with those from the recent Board meeting were presented to a committee of the Provincial Cabinet headed by Hon. D. Ure, Minister of Agriculture. The FUA delegation consisted of Mrs. Taylor, President of the FWUA, FUA President Henry Young, Vice-President Carl Stimpfle, Mrs. J. Harrold, FWUA vice-president and Rudolph Henig.

In all, some 76 resolutions were presented and a free exchange of views took place.

While the discussions were amicable and on a high plane, present maintained their tough most of the cabinet members and uncompromising attitude toward some of the main proposals of the FUA. Evidently the FUA must develop further strength in order to get satisfactory action.
